NEWS OF FARM AND RANGE

Walla Walla Stockman Dies—Following a long illness, Alexander Johnson, pioneer stockman, farmer and business man of Walla Walla, died at his home in that city yesterday afternoon. He came to this section of the country in 1883 and was connected with his two brothers, for many years in the stock raising business.

$30,000 Worth of Hogs—Glen Sturdivant while in Payette recently had an opportunity of seeing one of the most valuable bunches of pure-blood hogs in the northwest. There were 125 in all and they were valued at $30,000. The owner, he states, refused an offer of a $1000 each for ten of the hogs.

Malheur Cattle Increasing—The belief that cattle are becoming scarcer on the ranges of eastern Oregon is disproved by the statistics compiled by the Malheur national forest in its annual report just issued. The report shows that cattle have steadily increased during the past five years; that there is an increase of nearly 1000 head on the ranges of the forest over the year previous, and that everything points to a further increase during the coming year. The total number of cattle now using the ranges of that forest is about 20,000. The report showed a slight decrease in the number of sheep grazed.

The report shows a rapid growth of the timber sale business on that forest. Timber to a value of nearly $10,000 was sold during the past year which is an increase of nearly 100 per cent over the year previous. The report also showed a marked increase in the number of homestead applications under the forest homestead act.

Wild Hay Crop in Stack—A record breaking crop of wild hay is now mostly all in stack in Powder River valley and all over the county for that matter, and the pastures are now ready to receive the cattle that soon will be driven in from the bunch grass hills, says the Baker Democrat.

How prices will rule will be fixed by the number of stock that are to be wintered.

The second crop of alfalfa is now nearly ready for cutting and following this will be the harvesting of grain and threshing. The latter will start in a few days.

BLOCK SIGNAL KEEPER NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH

Only by a narrow margin did A. D. Boyce, O.-W. R. & N. block signal maintainer between Meacham and North Fork, escaped horrible death beneath the wheels of a train this morning when No. 17 coasted around a curve and down upon his little speeder. Seeing the onrushing train only when it had almost reached him, he threw himself off his machine and rolled down the embankment just as the engine struck the speeder and ground it to kindling. The accident occurred between Camp and North Fork. Because the engine was coasting down hill it made but little noise and the fact that it was around a curve prevented Boyce from seeing it. Instead of knocking the light speeder off the track, the engine ran over it and mashed it into a thousand pieces.

NAVAL BATTLE EXPECTED TO OCCUR OFF VANCOUVER

GERMAN CRUISER IS ON WAY—RAINBOW WILL ENGAGE THE ENEMY SOON.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 14.—The British sloop of war Albatross is expected hourly to arrive from Esquimalt where she will join the cruisers Rainbow and Shearwater. Fears were expressed here that the German cruiser Leipzig may get past Victoria under cover of darkness and start hostilities in Vancouver. This would be impossible in day time as the harbor line from Esquimalt to Victoria is heavily mined and well fortified. The Esquimalt naval station was notified of the approaching of the Leipzig. A battle surely will result in the straits between the German cruiser and the Rainbow, assisted by submarines if the Leipzig arrives in the day time.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 14.—A special train arrived with 150 trained gunners for the four big pieces from the arsenal at Coburg, Ontario, for use at Point Grey, B. C., which overlooks the entrance to Vancouver harbor. Every day a new move is made for the protection of Vancouver and Victoria. A special train of six carloads of ammunition arrived today for the Esquimalt naval base.

LOCAL MAN IS IN LINE FOR FEDERAL INSPECTOR

EDGAR F. AVERILL, HOWEVER, DECLARES HE SEEKS NO CHANGE.

Edgar F. Averill of this city, district game warden, is in line for the position of federal game inspector of the thirteenth district under the biological survey, announcement from Washington being that of all the men in the game service who took the civil service examinations the local man received first rating.

While Averill is given the highest rating of any of those taking the examination he has not been an active applicant for the position and does not expect the appointment. He is well satisfied with his present position and declares that so long as his work is satisfactory to the sportsmen and to the state authorities he does not have a desire to change.

The duties of the position to which he is eligible for appointment are general administration of game and bird refuges in the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, including care of birds and big game, and preparation of reports showing conditions of species and increases from year to year. General supervision of the migratory bird warden appointed for the district are also included among his duties, as well as the co-operation with local authorities in protection and propagation of game and the diffusion of information regarding conservation of wild life.

Offices are maintained in the Tacoma building, Portland, and one of the reasons Averill does not look with favor upon the proposition is his reluctance to leave Pendleton.

Averill believes the appointment will go to E. S. Catron of Portland who was chief deputy under state game warden W. L. Finley and whose rating was second.

The civil service examinations were held last April. They consisted of practical questions on mammals, birds and game laws and experience. Only men who have been in the game service at least a year were eligible. Mr. Averill's record during the three years he has been deputy and district warden is one of very best in the northwest and undoubtedly counted strongly for him in the rating.

The five applicants who made the best standings, according to the Washington dispatches, are in the order named:

Edgar F. Averill, Pendleton, Ore.; Eugene S. Catron, Portland, Ore.; George G. Cantwell, Puyallup, Wn.; H. C. Telford, Klamath Falls, Ore.; and H. Rief, Seattle. The first three have been certified to the survey and from them the inspector will be chosen.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 14.—Frank Kirkpatrick, who conducts a drug store at East Forty-first and Holgate streets, was fined $200 by Municipal Judge Stephenson for selling cocaine and morphine without a prescription. The state board of pharmacy was active in the prosecution. Mrs. B. Woods, held as a witness, was found to be wanted on a larceny charge preferred by the manager of the Oak Hotel. The charge against Mrs. Woods was dismissed by Judge Stephenson.
